Question -

When the owner/operator leaves the dock/unloading area, how does is the Coast Guard envisioning implementation of this rule in this area? Dock/unloading area has an operation similar to a gas station, various barges/companies off utilizing off-loading area, all leased by the port owner. Would the Port owner have to coordinate implementation of this rule with those companies leasing the dock? Or are the companies leasing the dock entirely responsible for the security of that area, or just the security when they are receiving a barge?
